

TRIBUTE OF NATIVE LAND.

Wright Brothers Honored by President Taft.

Aero Club Medal Presented at White House.

A Distinguished Gathering
Witnesses Ceremony.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Time and attention, good will and congratulations of the American people were extended today to Wilbur and Orville Wright, the American aviators, by the President of the United States.

The occasion was the presentation of the gold medals awarded to the Wright brothers by the Aero Club of America to commemorate the conquest of the air.

In the presence of distinguished statesmen, foreign diplomats, members of the cabinet, noted scientists and prominent aviators and aviators, the two inventors of the first successful flying machine "heavier than air," received the first public recognition of their achievements from their fellow countrymen.

President Taft expressed keen admiration for their work, and ventured the belief that their machine would be the basis for the future aerial craft, and prophesied that the dawn of the age of flight was here.

The Wrights were introduced to the President by Representative Herbert Parsons of New York, who paid a glowing tribute to their personal qualifications.

A. Holland Forbes, winner of the recent national balloon race, and acting president of the Aero Club of America, turned the medals over to the President on behalf of the Aero Club.

Miss Katherine Wright, sister of the aviators, accompanied her brothers and was quite as much lionized.

President Taft said to Miss Wright: "And I want to congratulate the most important members of the family."

The day was one of celebration in honor of the Wrights from the time they arrived at the White House, when they left for Dayton, Ohio, the chief trial officer, about the official trials of their airplane, which are to be resumed by Orville Wright.

C. E. Taylor, the mechanic who accompanied Orville to Fort Myer last summer, will set up the airplane at Fort Myer, and it is expected the flights will be resumed on June 21.

The tests were to have been concluded by June 25, but it is believed the time will be extended, if necessary.

Orville Wright said the machine would be practically identical with that used by him last year. It will be sent to Washington early next week.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH.

In presenting the medals, President Taft said:

"I esteem it a great honor and an opportunity to present these medals to you as evidence of what you have done. It is especially gratifying to you to note a great step in human discovery by paying honor to men who bear it so modestly. You made this discovery by a course that we of America like to feel is distinctly American—by keeping your nose right at the job until you had accomplished what you had determined to do."

"It has been said that this is the first Presidential recognition of aeronauts since President Washington. Well, all I have to say is that I had a predecessor who, if aeronautics had proceeded as far when he left office as they have today, would not only have gone down under the water in a submarine but he would have been gone up into the air in a flying machine."

"There may be some reason why some Presidents have not figured in aeronautics. I see that these gentlemen who have flown in the air are constructed 'more in the plan of the bird than some of us.'"

Mr. Justice Brown, in commenting on the law of patents, says in the patent law it is the last step that counts—that is the difference between failure and success, and that step you gentlemen have taken. I found that whatever improvements are hereafter made in machines heavier than air, the principles that you have discovered and applied, and the method of their application will be the basis of all successful flight."

FUTURE SERVICE.

"I don't like to think, and I decline to think that these instrumentalities that you have invented for human use are to be confined in their utility, to war. I presume they will have great value in war, but I sincerely hope that these machines will be increased in usefulness to man a point that even those of us who now look at them not for as may count on their ability to carry more than their passengers in times of peace."

"You planned what you wished to do and then you worked it out until you found it."

"I congratulate you on the result. I congratulate you upon the recognition you have received from all the great heads of Europe, and I congratulate you that in receiving it you maintained the modest and unassuming manner worthy of American citizenship."

COALITION PLANNED.

ON INCOME TAX.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Encouraged by what they interpret to be a weakening of the opposition to an income tax amendment, another move to form a coalition between the progressive Republicans and Democrats was begun in the Senate tonight.

The programme is that Senator Bailey should present his amendment, and a motion to amend is to be made by Mr. Cummins to reduce the proposed tax from 1 to 2 per cent, and to include a provision for a tax upon the income of corporations.

It is said Mr. Bailey will accept both changes, and that all who favor an income tax will unite on the amended measure.

The outcome is uncertain, but the indications point, it is said, to the reference of the whole subject to the Judiciary Committee. Senate instructions to report at the next session.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

House Makes Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—A resolution of inquiry, directed to the Secretary of the treasury, was adopted by the House today, calling for information regarding expenditures for river and harbor work. Mr. Fitzgerald, who introduced the resolution, explained that he had knowledge of the fact that there were appropriations more than five years old, which had not been obligated by contract.

NOTED PHILANTHROPIST AND DIVINE DIES.

Edward Everett Hale.

chaplain of United States Senate, who died yesterday at his home in Roxbury, Mass.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Time and attention again today Senator Dooliver and eight other members of the Senate and progressive Republicans went down to defeat in their efforts to break the ranks of the Aldrich forces on the wool schedule of the tariff bill. Senator Dooliver introduced numerous amendments looking to the reduction of the Finance Committee's rates, but in each instance the amendment was voted down and the committee sustained.

The object of Mr. Dooliver's suggestions had for its object restricting the duty on mixed cloths to the wool therein. This was defeated by a vote of 21 to 43. Mr. Warren contended that the object of this provision was to prevent the importation of cheap clothing but Mr. Dooliver argued that there might be some persons who would be benefited by having cheap clothing.

On this vote Mr. Dooliver was supported by Senators Beveridge, Brewster, Brown, Clapp, Cummins, La Follette, McPherson, and others. Mr. Aldrich was the only Democratic Senator who voted with the Republicans against the provision.

Many of Mr. Dooliver's amendments were along the same lines as the first, and on the entire series the vote was 21 to 43, in favor of the Republican change.

CONDITIONS CHANGED.

One of Mr. Dooliver's amendments was identical in terms with a provision suggested by Mr. Aldrich as a part of the McKinley tariff bill of 1888, but the Rhode Island Senator refused to accept it, saying the conditions were entirely different now from what they were in those days.

In the course of a discussion between Senators Aldrich and Owen on the duty on blankets paid at the rate of 100 per cent, the chairman of the Finance Committee was given an opportunity to accept a general provision prohibiting any rate in the schedule above 100 per cent, but he declined to do so because, as he said, it might result in the duty on blankets being brought out of the schedule.

In his effort to tax only the wool in fabrics made of cotton, Mr. Dooliver offered a substitute for that purpose for the paragraph relating to cloths, knit and other fabrics and manufactures made in whole or in part of wool. The substitute was defeated by a vote of 30 to 42, with the same division that had been shown in the past.

Becoming engaged with Mr. Carter in a debate in which the protective tariff was the subject, Mr. Dooliver declared he would place the wool industry in Montana on the same basis as the cotton industry of Georgia, and would not tax the people of Montana to live in hotels, as had been suggested by the Senator from Montana.

Mr. Dooliver also offered an amendment limiting the 100 per cent duty on any article.

Mr. Aldrich opposed both the levying of duties according to the wool in the fabric and also the limitation of the duty to 100 per cent.

DEBATE GOOD NATURED.

The debate throughout the day was good natured, and Mr. Dooliver discussed pork dot corn products, mottoes, and kindred subjects with much humor. He seemed to have real feeling over the possible tears in the eyes of the Irish potato, and convinced the Senate with his wit and wit and his humorous allusions to peculiarities in the Dingley law. Even "Home Back" was subject to pay tribute to the wool schedule. Mr. Dooliver declared that he had declared under "wearing apparel" occupied the attention of the Senate throughout the entire day, and on this account considered the wool schedule a success, which had been set for today, was postponed until tomorrow.

Mr. La Follette offered a number of amendments to the wool schedule. At 10:50 p.m. the Senate adjourned.

SETBACK FOR FREAK LAWS.

W. S. U'Ren's Complaint to Mandamus Secretary of State Thrown Out of Court.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SALMON, June 10.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) W. S. U'Ren, known throughout the country as the man who put upon Oregon the initiative and referendum, the direct primary and kindred measures, received a setback in the Circuit Court of Marion county today, when Judge Galloway threw out of court a complaint in a mandamus suit to compel the Secretary of State to issue a writ of mandamus for the purpose of passing a law passed by the last Legislature, providing an additional judge for the fourth district.

As passed by the Legislature this law carries an emergency clause whose effect is to prevent the invoking of the referendum. U'Ren thought he saw a way to force the referendum on the issue, and he filed suit against the Secretary of State, Thomas S. Starr, King, the famous divine, and forty-five years ago he entered the Methodist ministry. He was picked up by the steamer East Gate, and landed here tonight.

Allowing for the three hours' difference in time between Boston and Oakland, Dr. Rich was born in Boston 72 years ago. His first work on entering the ministry was as a pastor in the city of Boston. He was picked up by the steamer East Gate, and landed here tonight.

BEAUTY'S TRAGEDY.

photographed though several persons saw him there.

The report from Baltimore that Mrs. McKim will marry Vanderbilt did not surprise the acquaintances of the two, for Mrs. McKim, for the past year or more, has been much in his company.

She is a beautiful woman, and has been one of the most admired young matrons in the "400" of New York. She made her debut as a hostess at Newport last summer, and was an instantaneous success at that famous resort of wealth and fashion. She took a leading part in the social festivities at the Newport Horse Show and was conspicuous in other diversions of the summer season.

MENTIONED AS LEADER.

In fact, Mrs. McKim's prominence at Newport started the rumor that she might become the leader of New York's society, as she possessed the qualifications for such a position, having, in addition to beauty, charm, tact and graciousness, the means to shine socially and the ambition that is linked with youth and vigor. To all of her friends the fact is apparent that Mrs. McKim is the idol of her father and Capt. Emerson is a man of recognized wealth. There is no wish of his daughter that he would not gratify.

The marriage of Miss Emerson to Dr. McKim, who is a son of Hollis McKim, and a member of an old and prominent Baltimore family, was celebrated in the evening of December 20, at Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, and was a brilliant social affair.

The romance between Dr. McKim and Miss Emerson developed to a great extent on the high seas and in foreign lands. Soon after his daughter was grown Capt. Emerson went with her and a party of friends for a trip around the world on his magnificent steamship.

She struggled and managed to get away, but she was badly frightened and injured.

The girl was taken to a hospital, where she is now recovering from her injuries. The police are looking for the man who assaulted her, and they believe he is the same man who was thought to be the slayer of the Poltera girl.

Continental Race on in Dead Earnest.
The Ford Still Are Mighty Factors in Contest.
The latest good roads map and perhaps one of the best which has yet been published in the newspapers emanates from The Big Exclusive Piano House, The Bartlett Music Co. This map shows the various roads of travel which will be improved, by the good roads bond issue, when completed, and in the main is very correct. The startling thing about the whole proposition is that Los Angeles is apparently blotted out of the map and there are only two buildings in the whole city. One of them is the City Hall, which, under the new regime, perhaps, deserves this distinction, and the other is the Bartlett Music Co. This old established concern has been in existence longer, however, than the City Hall in its present location, having been established in 1875, and have sold numberless thousands of pianos to the residents of Los Angeles and vicinity.
We presume that the good roads map which this enterprising concern is so extensively circulating free is for the purpose of advertising the big sale of pianos which we notice in all the papers is being extensively advertised. How they came about to give a premium on every piano sold of from $75 to $125, as advertised, is up to them; perhaps, however, they wish to have some representative family on every good road in the country have one of their instruments.
COUNCILMAN AMBITIOUS.
Healy, of the Eighth Ward, Formerly Announces His Candidacy for Councilman-at-Large.
Councilman Healy of the Eighth Ward formally announced his candidacy for Councilman-at-Large at a meeting of the German-American Alliance last night. He was received with much enthusiasm by the 100 voters present, and made a brief speech.
"I did not come here to do politics," said Councilman Healy, "but I am willing to admit that I shall be a candidate for Councilman under the direct primary law. I think you all know how I stand on matters affecting our foreign-born citizens. If I am chosen as one of the nine Councilmen, I shall try to do my duty as a representative of you electors."
J. J. Gosper, ex-Governor of Arizona, endorsed Councilman Healy's candidacy. "My mother was German and my father was Scotch-Irish," said Gosper. "I am heartily with you in sentiment and blood. Although this is not intended to be a political meeting, I want to say that the Germans of this city are certainly entitled to representation in the Common Council."
"I heartily approve of Councilman Healy as your representative. I have had occasion to confer with him on some important measures. I have always found him fearless and determined to see that the liberal element of this municipality secures fair treatment. I have looked at him closely, and he never seen any long hairs clinging to his coat. There may be better-looking men in the Council, but there is no one who has stood for your desires as Mr. Healy has done."
C. J. Rohde presided at the meeting. He announced it was called to explain to the German-American voters the exact meaning of the new primary law. He said that it would be well for all holding the opinions of the alliance to closely study the manner of filing petitions for candidates.
"We surely are entitled to have some representation in the city government," said he. "We ought to make sure we are going to support the right men. We can exert considerable influence by uniting on certain men for the public offices."
Louis Lucke read the portion of the charter amendments which tells how the primary elections shall be held, and he explained each section as he went along.

BREVITIES.

To "Liner" Advertisers: Dating from June 1st, classified advertising in the Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 10 per word in the daily issue and 15c Sunday. Close calculations covering a period of several months develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1st. Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it. The present "want" ad rate has been in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 50,000 Sundays, has tripled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with the Times in "want" ad service. The Times-Mirror Company.

Remember the slogan: "Buy and Boost Home Products." For daily references, see page 5, Part II, of the Times, containing list of wide-awake manufacturers, under the heading "Made in Southern California." You will find there are manufacturers of necessities and luxuries here—manufacturers of things to eat and drink—things for the home, the factory, the office and the farm. Buy them! Try them! There are none better. Buy and Boost, and keep your money at home where it will do you and yours the most good.

OCEAN PARK.
OCEAN PARK, June 10.—The friends of the movement for the consolidation of Ocean Park and Santa Monica, the special election for which is soon to be called, profess to see in the suddenly announced resumption of building operations on a wholesale scale at Venice a plan evolved by the "anti" for the defeat of the municipal merger. As the new work is to engage about 400 voters for many days, colonization is kind at it.
City Clerk Hemmingsway of Santa Monica is making rapid progress in checking the names signed to the consolidation petition. There is no doubt that he will find sufficient names and many to spare. In fact, the signers represent more than 1000 of the population, 50 per cent. of the voters. He says he has not thrown out thirty names on the Ocean Park list for the alleged reason that the signers are not residents of that city.

When You Have Struck Bottom
If you ever expect to buy a piano, here's a point to remember:
When a salesman glances at one of these mysterious-looking price tickets and knocks off $25 from what he calls "regular" price—look out! It is quite likely he would knock off $50 or more under sufficient pressure. How do you know when you have struck bottom?
Better pass these mysterious-tag, sliding-price fellows by and deal with a plain-figure, one-price house.
The Fitzgerald Music Company marks all prices in plain figures and will not deviate one penny from them.

The letters offered and rejected in evidence and afterward given out to the press, can but be convinced that the writers were fully cognizant of the fact that in no essential quality of character is the president of this league deficient.
Subconsciously, or for the purpose of parrying a counter thrust, a splendid truth crept into one of the letters, carrying the signatures of four persons. Truth is ever at the door of one's house, and is of course the natural product of the mind, so that in describing that nobility of character which marks every woman whose aspirations and efforts lie along the lines of benevolence and mercy, his appearance in the letter may be accounted for upon the ground that it occurred at a moment when malevolence was off guard. In any event Miss Mathewson possesses in large measure the philanthropic and charitable and kindly attributes, and has a real desire to protect the dumb animals.

THE FIRST PANTALON GOWN IN LOS ANGELES.

Exhibited at Hamburger's store yesterday.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FACIES FOR WOMEN

BY MISS SYDNEY FORD.

Did you see it? The pantalon gown? Well, it has arrived. Yes, in the rhythmic language of a gay little southerner, who, when she beheld this peach-blossom gown with bifurcated effect yesterday, plumed herself across the floor and chanted softly under her breath:

"The pantalon gown."

Really, it is not so bad as it sounds.

As a matter of sober fact, its ten times more modest than the sheath gown that so shocked Paris when it was wearing on the boulevard last fall. Its no worse, when you come right down to facts, than the bathing suit—nor the bifurcated riding robes, nor the khaki divided skirts that we climb mountains in, nor the graceful, oriental gowns the Chinese women wear.

Humor hath it that Chicago lost its head when the pantalon gown made its first appearance there the other day. Patrons were lowered before the modest eyes of State-street femininity, matrons blushed and even the policemen looked the other way and the trousers finally took refuge in a department store, from whence she telephoned for a cab to take her home.

Not so Los Angeles. But our pantalon gown has not yet appeared on the street. It made its initial bow to the public yesterday afternoon in the suit department of the biggest store in town. Inside it was a stunning young woman who wore the gown so regally that it made a decided hit. The gown itself was of the softest, most delicate, liveliest shade of peach blossom pink, and its smooth, clinging broadcloth folds fell gracefully about the figure of the wearer, whose pretty color came and went as she posed here and there about the room, where the traitor was intent on studying the latest fashions in frocks.

It was amusing to watch the expression on the faces of the various spectators as they became aware that this handsome gown that attracted the attention of every one had a divided skirt.

A mother was there selecting a lingerie graduating gown for her young daughter. As they pulled over the skirt of mauve frocks, suddenly the vision in pink broadcloth seated by. They got a side view only and daughter clutched mother's gown with an "oh" of admiration as her eyes followed the stunning figure in the trailing gown.

"Isn't it lovely?" she gasped. "Oh, mother, did you see her?"

Just then the bifurcated gown made a turn and came slowly down the room presenting a full front view. At that moment mother looked up and got her first glimpse of the gorgeous gown.

She saw just one thing—the panthelette effect—as the wearer moved it became evident even to the most uninitiated person that the graceful, trailing skirt parted just above the knee.

Instantly there was a sensation in that vicinity. Heads were craned and a stern-faced matron elevated her eyebrows.

"Where—where's her—petticoats?" gasped mother.

The saleswoman kindly explained that no lace-trimmed, lingerie undergarments were possible with this style of gown and pointed out the advantage in lessening laundry bills.

In the back there was no sign of the bifurcated effect—just a long, graceful, sweeping train and over it fell the tail of the director's coat, out square and elaborately embroidered with French word in the exact shade of the gown itself. In front was a girle of black satin to finish the skirt of effect, the square-cut neck of which was filled in with ecru lace.

A more perfectly-fitting, perfectly-tailored and perfectly-worn gown has not been seen here this season. Miss Marceline Baker, who gave the gown to the study for Adele Rafter, now playing at the Majestic Theater, was the wearer and she certainly knows how to carry off a gown. A charming black picture hat with rich, sweeping plumes completed the costume, which is a creation of the celebrated dress designer, M. Rebour of the Rue Boulevard. He designed the gown especially for the firm, who quietly, without previous notice, to the public, sprung this sensation yesterday in their suit department. It created such a furore that it probably will be on exhibition again this afternoon.

It is prophesied that the time is not far distant when gowns for her young daughter will be as frequently seen on Broadway and create no more of a sensation than the khaki climbing suits or the fling skirts. Its all a matter of education. Time was when James-Miller stood in the most glaring limelight because she advocated undergarments for women, which are now accepted as a matter of fact and comfort.

Dr. Mary Walker used to draw a crowd every time she appeared on the streets of Washington in her maculine garb. Now she is taken as a matter of course by all Washingtonians.

Has come to town.

The Groom's Clothes.

The spat's the thing, gentlemen. If you are booked for a smart wedding—be it your own or that of your best friend. There is no detail that gives more distinction to men's dress at a wedding than white spats over patent-leather shoes, says a Washington Post fashion writer.

There you have it—from the fountain head of American fashion, as it were. There's no dodging it—no hasten away, you coming groom or groomsman, and order some white duck spats. There's but one compromise between the spats and the low quarter shoes, and that is the high-buttoned patent-leather shoe. Well-dressed men, as a matter of fact, nowadays seem to know but two kinds of patent-leather shoes—pumps and high-buttoned boots. That is what the tailor to the American Court in Washington says, and there can be no higher authority in this country. He also says that the frock coat is as much out of date as a Roman toga. The cutaway coat is the proper caper, and it may be accepted as a settled style that is likely to retain its favor for some time to come.

"Whenever I hear," says this autocratic tailor, "that there has been a wedding with the bridegroom and ushers in frock coats, I can always tell that there has been economy somewhere. Either the bridegroom did not want to buy a complete outfit himself, or he did not want to compel his ushers to buy new coats. For more than a year the frock has been altogether out of the mode, and most men have bought the other kind. For a wedding last week I made new clothes for the groom and every usher, all of whom changed to be regular customers of mine, and the groom, best man and six ushers were dressed exactly alike, an effect rarely seen. The coats were cutaways of black diagonal, finished with silk braid, and the waistcoats were of the same material, except that they had the insert of white duck. The trousers were black, with a thin mauve stripe. With the patent leather shoes white duck spats were worn. The shirts were made with soft, French turned-back cuffs of a material that was pure silk and pure cotton. The bosoms were soft, but plain, and the ties of rather bright purple. Gloves of pale gray suede completed the dress.

"These suits were a gift of the bridegroom to his attendants. The men wore no scarfpins, as the bridegroom did not include them, and as they did not all possess pins just alike, it was decided to do without them. Such smart dress for men has not been seen this spring, and the principal element of its style lay in absolute uniformity."

Some Summer Corsets.

If you're looking for a light-weight summer corset—and that hot weather last week made us all think about it—I saw a line the other day, made especially to the order of a certain house here, which caters exclusively to women, that it seems to me will just meet the required want. They are, in fact, the lightest-weight batiste and the bones are as thin as wafers and the cut is perfect, and they cost—just $1.25 per pair.

Some women, by the way, have a mistaken idea about prices ruling in exclusive establishments. I frequently hear the expression: "Oh, I'd never dare go there—it costs tremendously to so much as duck your head inside the door."

Now, I know to the contrary. Some of the best houses in town offer, at stated intervals, the best bargains ever saw. Take the firm above referred to. It was held that not a pair of corsets in the house was ever sold under $5. I boldly stalked the lion in his den and found that my informant was mistaken.

Timely Tips.

For golf, walking, etc., stockings are worn to match the costume, with tan or black shoes.

For midsummer, the smartest riding costumes are of natural-colored linen or tan Holland linen.

The lines of the best waists show width at the shoulders and a slight taper at the waist line.

On tailor-made the sleeves are plain and severe, but on dressy gowns they are puffed and ruffled.

Blossoms, almost without exception, are being chosen to match the gowns with which they are to be worn.

Many of the new gowns display embroidery with kid or cloth top, to be the dressiest for early summer.

A new pongee ribbon in daisy design is in demand so much for hat decorations as for women's neckties.

A pleasant change is made by finishing the Dutch collar at the front with two tiny roses and a long tab.

"CHECK YOUR BAGGAGE, BIRD"

Plan to Form Corporation by Combining Two of Largest Transfer Companies in City.

A plan is on foot to form a corporation to take over two of the principal local transfer companies—the Los Angeles and the American. According to the promoters there is no intention of forming a trust from scores of small baggage transfer concerns, but merely to unite the two principal companies for mutual benefit. If the deal goes through, E. H. Barnore, president of the Los Angeles Transfer Company, will be the general manager of the new concern.

"The only reason for joining the Los Angeles and American companies is to reduce expenses," said Barnore last night. "One organization can handle all the transfer business in the city and it will be less confusing for travelers. There are many baggage wagons in the city which are operated by small concerns. No attempt will be made to take in the small firms."

Barnore was unable to say when the new company would be organized, but he expressed the belief it would be soon.

D. M. Dorman, head of the California Creamery and Butter Company, left for the Imperial Valley last night.

"CHECK YOUR BAGGAGE, BIRD"

Plan to Form Corporation by Combining Two of Largest Transfer Companies in City.

A plan is on foot to form a corporation to take over two of the principal local transfer companies—the Los Angeles and the American. According to the promoters there is no intention of forming a trust from scores of small baggage transfer concerns, but merely to unite the two principal companies for mutual benefit. If the deal goes through, E. H. Barnore, president of the Los Angeles Transfer Company, will be the general manager of the new concern.

"The only reason for joining the Los Angeles and American companies is to reduce expenses," said Barnore last night. "One organization can handle all the transfer business in the city and it will be less confusing for travelers. There are many baggage wagons in the city which are operated by small concerns. No attempt will be made to take in the small firms."

Barnore was unable to say when the new company would be organized, but he expressed the belief it would be soon.

D. M. Dorman, head of the California Creamery and Butter Company, left for the Imperial Valley last night.

As gifts to the wedding ushers and maids, and as personal gifts to the bride, there is nothing comparable to Brock & Feagans distinctive, solid gold jewelry.

It may be gem set or not, according to your preference, and to the amount you wish to expend.

If the gift is for a gentleman, it may be one of these 14-kt. solid gold match boxes, or cigarettes cases, or cigar cutters, or pocket knives, or a 14-kt. military brush and comb in case, or a full dress vest chain enameled and pearl set.

If for a lady—one of these 14-kt. gold mesh bags or purses plain or gem set—a card case, plain or engraved and jewel set—a coin holder—a purse mirror—a vinaigrette—a chatelaine perfume pendant, a toilet set, a manicure set, a fancy stone ring with hand wrought setting, or one of these high grade coral necklaces at $3.00 to $500.00 a string.

Or, for the bride, one of these beautiful lockets, or lavalieres, or pendants, or pendant brooches, is particularly suitable.

But these hints are meager as compared to the many suggestions a visit to this department will reveal.

We welcome you.

GRASSMEE CASE.

In some form had been administered. Death resulted from these injuries, and not from the ailment for which Mr. Grassmeyer was confined in the asylum.

THREATEN TO DEATH.

County officials who have worked on the case state their belief that Grassmeyer was either set upon by an attendant or other inmates of the hospital while he was strapped to his bed, or while his arms were strapped, and was given the beating which resulted in his death.

They are also mystified by the secrecy which the asylum authorities have maintained and their negligence in making a full investigation. It has been learned that doctors at the asylum learned last Monday that Grassmeyer was in a serious condition. The attendant was questioned, and because he had failed to report his ward's condition, he was discharged.

Late Monday afternoon relatives in this city were informed that Grassmeyer was seriously ill. Tuesday noon, M. C. Keener, who had employed Grassmeyer for eighteen years, telephoned to the hospital, and was told that Grassmeyer's condition was much improved. That same afternoon he received a telephone message that Grassmeyer was very low, and that Grassmeyer's wife should be notified.

Wednesday, Neuner, Mrs. Grassmeyer and Oscar Grassmeyer, a brother, went to Patton, but on arrival there were told that Grassmeyer had died at 7 o'clock in the morning. The remains had been posted to their arrival. Their consent had not been obtained. The coroner of the county had not been notified. At the request of the wife the body was turned over to her and brought to Los Angeles. It is the belief of the officials that the hospital authorities expected the remains would be interred without an examination which would reveal the injuries. The suspicion of the relatives and friends were aroused, however, which resulted in yesterday's inquiry.

Besides his wife and brother, Grassmeyer leaves a thirteen-year-old daughter. The funeral will probably be held today.

DOESN'T EXPLAIN.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN BERNARDINO, June 10.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Acting Superintendent Wilson of the State Hospital stated tonight that two of Grassmeyer's ribs were broken, but that he is in total ignorance of how the injuries were sustained. Wilson believes the deceased was either attacked by another patient, or sustained his injury by a fall.

"We discharged the watchman, named Burg, I don't know his first name—because he failed to report Grassmeyer's injuries, which were discovered by other attendants next day," he said. "I was Monday last. Monday, we don't charge Burg with having inflicted those injuries. Another thing is that Grassmeyer did not die of those injuries. He died of paralysis—softening of the brain. He has been in the last stages of this ailment for some time, and his death was not a surprise. When we discovered that his side was discolored, we questioned Burg. He refused to make a statement. Burg is about 32. He has no permanent residence, but is merely a roving vagabond. He had been with the institution about two years."

Questioned closely, Dr. Wilson stated that Burg had two wards to watch during the night, containing forty patients. The doctor appears to think that the one guard should be able to discover instantly if anything goes wrong in the wards under his charge, and even though stating that Grassmeyer was confined to a bed, he is of the opinion that Burg should have discovered the discoloration on the patient's side. He states Grassmeyer was greatly excited even next day. Dr. Wilson made an effort to obtain information concerning Grassmeyer's injuries from other attendants and patients, but without results.

The report made by Watchman Burg to the hospital supervisor on Monday referred to a slight scratch which had been noticed by Burg on Grassmeyer's side, according to Dr. Wilson. Nothing was thought of this injury until it developed discoloration, and an immediate investigation disclosed that two ribs had been broken. The ward in which Grassmeyer was confined was guarded by two attendants, one stationed at each end of the ward, and Burg was assigned to that end of the ward in which Grassmeyer was located. The attendants are supposed to be constantly on guard, and Dr. Wilson at once had Burg on the carpet to ascertain how Grassmeyer came by his fractured bones. Burg denied all knowledge of the affair and for this reason he was discharged. Dr. Wilson believes Burg had not told all he knew of the affair. It is known that Grassmeyer had been violent Sunday night, and that his injury was sustained, and there seems reason to believe that he had been placed in restraint. Whether this means that a strait-jacket was employed could not be ascertained, though this is believed to be the impression that is sought to be conveyed by Dr. Wilson's statement. That the attendant may have struck or kicked the patient is admitted.

Today a subpoena was served upon Dr. Wilson, commanding his presence at the inquest in Los Angeles tomorrow morning. The opinion here is that Dr. Wilson has stated all that he really knows of the affair.
